Cloud & Sovereignty

Current challenge

Legacy systems are often tied to static hardware on site

- high maintenance costs and low flexibility of the systems are the result
- loud transformations are made more difficult by fixating on a technology partner

Our approach

- Holistic cloud services from strategy to operations
- Together with you, we will choose the right technology partner for you from our network
- Our experts are at your side according to your needs, from the initial brainstorming to implementation and operation.

Your added value

- Not an off-the-shelf solution, but cloud technology that really fits your needs.
- Highest security standards and maximum availability

With CGI, you start your cloud transformation on solid expert knowledge and receive a solution that is individually tailored to your requirements and is durable and secure to operate.
