System Integration

Current challenge

- Grown IT structures, separate workflows and data lead to high costs for internal coordination
- Services are not provided consistently across the entire ecosystem
- The user experience is fragmented and inconsistent

Our approach

- Holistic approach, from planning to implementation and beyond
- No vendor/technology lock-in
- Strict quality assurance criteria, compliance with which is ensured by test processes

Your added value

- Cost-effective integration instead of new procurement
- Choosing the optimal method and technology based on your requirements
- Many individual systems create an ecosystem for you, your employees and customers

With CGI, you start your cloud transformation on solid expert knowledge and receive a solution that is individually tailored to your requirements and is durable and secure to operate.
